

Syneos Health to Share Strategies Designed to Meet the Needs of Patients, Payers and Regulators at DIA Global Annual Meeting

June 22, 2018

Company to Host Annual Site Appreciation Reception to Recognize the Critical Role of Clinical Research Sites in Drug Development

RALEIGH, N.C., June 22, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Syneos Health™ (Nasdaq:SYNH), the only fully integrated biopharmaceutical solutions organization, today announced an extensive presence at the DIA Global Annual Meeting being held June 24-28 in Boston, Mass. Numerous company thought leaders – including data, real world and late phase, regulatory, feasibility, technology, consulting and branding experts – will provide strategic insights for developing therapies designed to achieve key stakeholder objectives.

“Regulators are now joined by payers, and most importantly engaged patients, in the growing list of stakeholders biopharmaceutical companies must consider to deliver a successful clinical program and product to the market,” said Alistair Macdonald, Chief Executive Officer at Syneos Health. “At DIA, we’ll discuss stakeholder-specific strategies and solutions fueled by insights generated through our unique CRO and CCO (Contract Commercial Organization) business model.”
