All reported events are referred to in this Policy as "Reported Events", except for reported events related to accounting, internal accounting controls and auditing matters (including reported events regarding attempted or actual circumvention of internal accounting controls or reported events regarding violations of the Company's accounting policies), which are referred to in this Policy as "Accounting Reported Events".

Whistleblower Policy

Reported Events may relate to matters including, but not limited to, criminal offences, breaches of legal obligations, miscarriages of justice, dangers to the health or safety of an individual, violations of the Company's anti-bribery and anti-corruption practice or Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, damage to the environment, or the deliberate covering up of information showing any of these matters.

Accounting Reported Events may relate to matters including, but not limited to, fraud or deliberate error in the preparation, evaluation, review or audit of any financial statements of the Company, fraud or deliberate error in the recording and maintaining of financial records of the Company, deficiencies in or noncompliance with the Company's internal accounting controls, misrepresentations or false statements to or by a senior officer or accountant regarding a matter contained in the financial records, financial reports or audit reports of the Company, deviation from full and fair reporting of the Company's financial condition, or violations of the Company's Code of Ethics for Principal Executive Officer and Senior Financial Officers.

Associates and Associated Persons are given the opportunity to report Reported Events and Accounting Reported Events for review by representatives of the Company according to the mechanisms more fully described in Section 4 below. The Company will protect the confidentiality and anonymity of the reporter to the extent allowed by law and consistent with the need to conduct an adequate investigation.

3.2 No Retaliation

No Associate or Associated Person who reports an event shall suffer harassment, retaliation, or adverse employment consequence (including, but not limited to, discharge, demotion, suspension, or discrimination in the terms and conditions of employment), if the reporter makes such report in good faith, reasonably believing that the information relayed shows misconduct within the Company, noncompliance with a business practice that could cause serious harm or give rise to Company liability, or violation or suspected violation of the Codes, any applicable law or regulation including, but not limited to, securities laws and regulations, accounting standards, accounting controls, and audit procedures. Any Associate or Associated Person who retaliates against someone who in good faith has reported an event is subject to discipline up to and including possible termination of employment.

4.1 Reported Events

Supervisor/Line Manager/Human Resources/Management. We recommended that Associates and Associated Persons share their questions, concerns, suggestions, or Reported Events with someone who can address them properly. In most cases, an Associate's supervisor or line manager is in the best position to address an area of concern. However, if an Associate is not comfortable speaking with his/her supervisor or unsatisfied with the supervisor's response, the Associate is encouraged to speak with someone in the Human Resources Department, the Legal Department or anyone in management whom he/she is comfortable approaching regarding the matter, who in turn must report any concern to the Legal Department. Supervisors and managers are required to report suspected violations of the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics or any reasonably perceived violations of applicable law(s) to Human Resources or the Legal Department.
